Excerpt: Remember with kids to check with their doctor. In theory (and practice), the following often helps with allergies or asthma in children because it clears bacteria out of the system. What happens with allergies is that so much pollen or bacteria comes in that the system gets full. Then the body tries to help by surrounding it with mucus to get it out. Trying to blow or cough it out. Like when your dishes are dirty, you use water, heat and soap. Your body uses water, heat and mucus or water heat and lymph. Lets wash the dishes! The following formula kills off the bacteria or pollen so that it drains out through the lymphatic system or when the person goes to the bathroom. It has to go out somewhere better that way then through your skin, coughing or sneezing. Then the body can maintain a healthy internal environment. Normally with asthma it is triggered by allergies. The lungs have lots of bacteria and get swollen and inflamed. Again, this formula gets the bacteria out so the swelling normally goes down and the person is much better. You can help with Essiac. This is known as Camas Tea, Floressence or Ojibwa Tea bags by NOW. Concentrated versions like NOW Ojibwa Tea liquid concentrate or EZZIAC liquid are too strong for kids. They are still very safe but you detoxify too fast. On the brands Camas Tea, Floressence or Ojibwa Tea bags (make up a cup of tea). A child's dose is typically one ounce per day, about three times a week.) In theory, this clears out candida, bacteria, mold, even toxins and heavy metals. This is very safe. A child can also benefit by taking Childrens or Infants Acidophilus. Jarrow brand is great. This puts the good bacteria back into the system. A child can benefit by taking cod liver oil several times a week. Probiotics are great for infants at infant strengths, essiac or cod liver oil is usually recommended when they are three or older in small infrequent doses.
