

Authorpreneur in Pajamas: Building Your Authors Platform Without Leaving Your Home

This may be the best time to be an author, but with thousands of books released daily, what will make your book stand out from the rest? Whether you're published through a traditional publishing house or are self-published, every author should market their book. Although authors need to have a strong face-to-face presence, Authorpreneur in Pajamas focuses on how authors can build their platform in their pajamas while using online tools that increase exposure and visibility. We live in a virtual world, where digital has taken over paper, where smart phones, tablets and eReaders are now necessities, and where building your authors platform can be done with a push of a button. Authorpreneur in Pajamas teaches you how to build your authors platform without leaving your home.
