Excerpt from Churchwardens Accounts of the Parish of St. Andrew, Canterbury, Vol. 1: 1485 1509 These Accounts of the Church wardens of the Church of St. Andrew in the city of Canterbury are contained in a folio volume of 215 paper leaves, bound in boards covered with leather, ornamented with an elaborate panelled design of a contemporary pattern embossed upon it, and with the words Time Deum occurring continuously around the centre panel; the clasps are of brass and have but slight ornamentation. The volume has been rebacked at a later period, has four raised bands, is 12 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches high by 9 inches broad and 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches thick. The volume consists, as above stated, of 215 paper leaves. Of these the first 190 are original, as are the last three, numbered 213, 214 and 215; they measure 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches by 12 inches, are of good paper with a water-mark consisting of a gauntleted hand in the erect position, from the second finger of which is poised a crown. The remaining 21 folios are a later addition, being probably bound up in the volume when the book was re-bound the first time.
