

Home Remedies for Ulcers - Natural Stomach Ulcer Treatment that Works

Simple Home Remedies for Ulcers that Work Stomach Ulcers are a very common problem suffered by many people today. Stomach ulcers develop when there is an imbalance between peptic acid secretions and resistance factors, such as cellular replacement and mucus. Causes of this imbalance include hereditary factors, mental stress, physical stress, too much alcohol consumption, smoking, and NSAIDS. Symptoms are different depending on where the ulcer is located. Ulcers located in the stomach wall create a burning pain which is usually worse during or after eating, causing nausea and vomiting. Duodenal ulcers are intermittent and are usually relieved by eating. These are the ulcers that cause pain in the early morning and often wake up the individual in the night. Stomach ulcers may bleed and cause dark stools and blood in vomit. A perforated ulcer can cause extreme pain and shock. Fortunately there is help...
