

Women in Teacher Training Colleges, 1900-1960: A Culture of Femininity (Womens and Gender History)

Women in Teacher Training Colleges, 1900-1960 is an intricate and fascinating investigation of the lives and experiences of women in these important educational institutions of the early twentieth century. The book provides an overview of the historical context of the development of the colleges, using detailed case studies of three colleges: Homerton, Avery Hill and Bishop Otter. Drawing on a wealth of archival material, primary and secondary sources, and on the oral testimonies of former pupils and staff, the book examines the following key themes: the changing social class of women students; the colleges culture of femininity drawn from the family organization and social practices of the middle-class home; the conflicting public and private roles of the woman principal; the role of the college staff and the residential context of college life; womens sexuality; the last days of the womens colleges. Women in Teacher Training Colleges, 1900-1960 is an essential contribution to womens history and gives a unique insight into this neglected aspect of womens experiences in the twentieth century.
